Radical Australia Abolishes Wages

A Democracy Meets Test of War

Your admiration for Australia is bound to be heightened by today's news from the Land of the Southern Cross. For Australia, 100 per cent ruled by labor unions, and known as the most radical of the English-speaking nations, has met the threat of Japanese invasion by ordering the conscription of private labor.

Puerto Rico Island Shelled by Enemy Sub

Mona Island Blasted, No Damage or Casualties Reported

SAN JAUN, Puerto Rico —(P)—An enemy ship shelled Mona Island of Puerto Rico's westernmost extremity Monday night, Governor R. Tugwell's office announced Tuesday.

It was the first shelling of U. S. territory on the Atlantic side since the war started.

Presumably submarines shelled the island, which houses a National Youth Administration camp. The island is 20 square miles.

Remberto Cassaba, assistant head of the camp reported the attack but said no damage or casualties resulted.

"The shells landed far up on the rocky cliffs of the island," he reported.

First-Aid Class Gets Under Way

Dr. J. G. Martindale
Pleased With Opening Session

The first meeting of the Instructor's First Aid Class got underway with an exceptionally fine start Monday night. Dr. J. G. Martindale is pleased with the keen interest shown by those attending his class. Textbooks were distributed Monday night and after an interesting session lessons were assigned for the next meeting.

The First Aid Class will not meet Tuesday night, because of time needed to get bandages and other equipment for the next session. Class will be resumed Wednesday night at 8:00.

The following selected by the Hempstead County Defense Council to take this course attended the first meeting Monday night: Mrs. Howard Byers; Mrs. Lamar Cox; Elbert Davis; D. W. Dennington; Mrs. Lola Dosselt; Mrs. Joy Edwards; Jim Embree; Mrs. Mary Foster; Mrs. Henry Haynes; Mrs. Paul Johnson; Mrs. M. M. McClellan; S. E. McGregor; Mrs. J. O. Milant; K. R. Snyder; Hendrix Spanglins; Paul Simms; Royce Smith; Roy Stephenson; Mrs. John Vesey; Wyble Wimbler; H. B. Vineyard; and R. H. Martindale.

The following people who were selected did not attend: Chief Haynie; Fonzie Moses; Mrs. Naylon Wylie and Tom Wardlow.

Several people who had already had this first aid course or who had attended first aid classes and wanted to complete this course also attended. They were: Mrs. Florine Miller; Mrs. Marie Nichols; Miss Ruth Taylor; Howard Hankins; Mrs. Louise T. Bryles; William R. Sommerville and Mrs. McCulley.

Now we have a new witness. His name is Douglas A. MacArthur. Reporting from the Bataan peninsula, General MacArthur tells the War Department the performance of the Garand has been "excellent," that the rifle operated with no mechanical defects and did not develop stoppages from dust or dirt. The Garand had been in almost constant action for as much as a week without cleaning or lubrication. MacArthur suggested no modifications in parts or assembly.

That report pretty well answers the critics, but it need not damn every last one of them. The Garand has been constantly improved, undoubtedly many improvements have been due to this type of criticism. At the same time, the Army is to be commended for sticking with the Garand and not tossing it into the pond, as some critics advocated.

MacArthur himself shares in the triumph for the new rifle. As Army chief of staff he insisted that the gun's caliber be changed to .30 so that its ammunition would conform with that of machine guns and the Springfield.

One of the things this meant was

Ship Torpedoed by Enemy Sub Off U. S. Coast

Ninth Naval Ship
Sunk February
28, Off Cape May,
New Jersey

WASHINGTON —(P)—The Navy announced Tuesday that the destroyer Jacob Jones was sunk by an enemy submarine off Cape May, N. J., before dawn on February 28, and that only 11 men of the destroyer's crew survived.

The number of those lost, including the commanding officer Lt. Commander H. D. Black of Cradell, N. J., was not given but was far more than 100 since normal wartime complement around 145 officers and men.

Two torpedoes hit the Jacob Jones. The first blew up the bow and apparently killed all personnel on the bridge as well as the men sleeping in the forward living quarters. The second blew up the stern and all the depth charges.

Survivors consisted of 9 enlisted men from the engine room and two apprentice seamen.

Of the 11 only one man was outside the amidship section when the stern was blown up. That one was in the after engine room.

In the communication the Navy said neither the enemy submarine nor torpedo was sighted prior to the first hit. After the first hit the submarine circled ahead of her and fired a torpedo which caused the explosion of the depth charges in the stern.

This was the ninth naval ship officially lost so far in the war, including the Reuben James torpedoed last fall prior to the U. S. declaration of the war.

Other were three combat ships, a mine layer, a target ship lost at Pearl Harbor, the tanker Natchez, torpedoed in unidentified waters and the coast guard cutter Alexander Hamilton. Loss of the Alexander Hamilton, with moderate casualties, was announced February 23. The following day the loss of the destroyer Truxton and the store ship, Pollux, in a storm off Newfoundland with a total loss of 189 officers and men was reported by the Navy.

The Truxton, the Reuben James and now the Jacob Jones were all of the old world war four-stacker type of destroyer.

The Jacob Jones was launched November 11, 1918, a 1,200 ton ship and had a speed of 35 knots.

The vessel was the second of that name to be lost in action with the enemy, the first was the Jacob Jones of World War days, went down with 64 men, December 6, 1917 while en route from Brest to Queenstown, Ireland. Both were named for a hero of the war of 1812.

Lt. Commander Black, 38, took command April 14, 1931. He was a native of New Jersey.

New Tax Pron to Hit Iyone

Mathau
Asmmittee
Apal of $9000,000 Bill

WASHINGTON —(P)—A $9,000,000,000 war program "to be felt in every A home" was laid before the nation Tuesday by Secretary of the Treasury.

The new will be severe and the empire felt in every home, the treasury told the House Ways and Means committee. "War is never felt it is a million times cheaper than to lose," he said.

Additives which he proposed would be greater than any ever levied by the federal government since year prior to 1941.

As a payment on victory Morgenthau doubling of most individual taxes with the rates so stiff a single man with an income of $10,000 would pay a $230 tax, and if he a million he would only be led to keep about $100,000.

Part of tax probably would be deducted paychecks.

He wanted higher taxes on corporations, plugging so-called loopholes, excess taxes, covering cigarettes, soda pop, stiffer estate and gift, plus two billion dollars additional social security taxes.

Together existing federal taxes this would fulfill President Roosevelt's request for 27 billions in taxes in coming fiscal year, the treasury said.

Morgenthau said the money was needed only to pay for war materials to check inflation. We should so as to withdraw the great volume of purchasing power from the country.

He stated his opposition to a general tax and declared the new plan should be fair and impose no burden on the ability to pay.

"The of this war will have to be borne by everyone," he asserted.

Three Main Jap Spearheads in Java

Striking swiftly through plantations and estates of a broad coastal plain, Japan's Java invading forces have driven 40-miles to capture the city of Soebang, which lies about the same distance north and slightly east of Bandoeng, headquarters of the Dutch imperial army. #### British Hit at Profiteering

Say Food Supply
30 Per Cent Higher
Than 1940

LONDON —(P)—Public anger over black market profiteering in the midst of Britain's most critical war period was answered Tuesday by an announcement that new regulations and penalties are to be put into operation.

Castigating food racketeers as "danger to our cause" a spokesman said that "we are determined they shall be stamped out."

He said details of the new measure would be disclosed soon and said the ministry of food supply already employs 800 inspectors and has made 40,000 prosecutions.

He also asserted that the nation's food stock at the end of 1941 was 30 per cent higher than the end of 1940.

Book Campaign Gets Underway

All Citizens
Asked to Donate to Library

The Victory Book Campaign is now in progress, a campaign to collect ten million books for the men in uniform.

This is not a movement of our luxury, but rather a necessity of our life. Every kind of book is needed as long as it is alive in your world today. Do not search in your attic for books which amused you or your grandparents but which you yourself would not consider reading, the tastes of the boys in the services are the very like your own. Any volume that you consider exciting or important or amusing will find an enthusiastic audience among soldiers, sailors and marines.

The young men in the service are a cross-section of our national life. The most erudite books of philosophy will find readers and so will the most trivial detective story. Poetry is read by "the watch-fires of a hundred circling camps," history, biography, every volume that has some meaning for the thought of man.

In Hempstead county a goal of 1000 books is expected to be reached by March 15.

Senator James H. Pilkinton, county chairman and Miss Elsie Weisenberger, assistant chairman, urges each family in Hope and Hempstead county to donate one book or money to buy one book now for the boys in uniform.

Forced Labor for Australia

Conscription Resorted to on Eve
Invasion Threat

MELBOURNE, Australia —(P)—In anticipation of war's spread to Australia, the government Monday ordered compulsory service for all civilians, tightened control over the three branches of the armed service and abolished for the first time in history five major holidays.

The war cabinet decided to extend the labor corps system to provide compulsory service for civilians at army pay—considerably below trade union wages—with army conditions and army-like discipline, mostly for construction and maintenance.

It also asserted that the nation's food stock at the end of 1941 was 30 per cent higher than the end of 1940.

ODHWS Handles Half-Dozen War Jobs

WASHINGTON — The Division of Health and Welfare of Paul McNutt's Office of Defense Health and Welfare Services—ODHWS for short—has been given half a dozen side-line war jobs to do, only in Washington lingo they are called "programs to co-ordinate."

Charles P. Taff, Cincinnati newspaper publisher and brother of the senator, runs the show which has dozens of advisory committees of doctors, welfare workers, public health officials and in addition tries to pull together the activities of some 20 existing federal agencies concerned with some program of their own for social betterment. It all may be a little confusing to a mere taxpayer, but when you spell out the whole job it emphasizes how complex a business war is and how many things there are about which somebody thinks something should be done.

The list runs all the way from curbing slugs, providing soldiers in camp with a place where they can stomp and holler, running morning movies for war industry laborers who work at night, putting in additional schools and sewers in war industry boom towns, keeping together the family of an alien moved from a defense area to the interior, and on up to seeing that there are enough doctors and nurses to go round.

Medical Migration
Shifting the doctors and dentists around is just getting started. Doctors can't be assigned to areas in which they don't want to settle, but with the population moving hither and yonder as these new defense centers spring up, a parallel migration of medical strength must be made. Dr. Frank Lahey, president of the American Medical Association, has therefore been named to head up a procurement and assignment service to spot these situations and then persuade enough doctors to move to new practices.

Medical and dental students have been exempted from selective service to insure an adequate supply of doctors for the future. And the third and fourth year students have been urged to join the Army or Navy medical reserve, which will be needing thousands of doctors for field service.

Supplying trained nurses has proved a bigger and more immediate headache because the expanding military forces brought heavy demands on the normal supply of 30,000 new nurses yearly. There developed an actual shortage of nurses. The estimated requirements were for 50,000 new nurses

Short Pickings From the Movie Mills

HOLLYWOOD — All over the lot, not since the self-regulation of the movies began, when tough mugs began calling each other "you scoundrel," and gangsters exclaimed "Good gracious!"—has anybody used the word "louse" on the screen either as a descriptive noun or an entomological term.

But in the screen play of "Eagle Squadron" is a scene which may give the censors a headache. When Jon Hall raps Nigel Bruce with a scrambled literary allusion, the elder actor says, "And since you're takin' liberties wi' Robbie Burns, don't forget the one he wrote about an ancestor o' yours . . . 'Ode to a Louse.'"

Then follows a writer's note in the script: "Although the Hays Office objects to the word 'louse,' it must be pointed out that the above poem is among Burns' best known, and it should be allowed to stand."

Rough Pay-Off
A few months ago the girl who sold flowers among the tables in a local night club was a striking brunette named Mary Scott. And among her customers was Gene Tierney, who somehow was quicker than any of the male patrons to notice that Miss Scott had a quality the movies might want. So the star spoke to the right people and the flower girl got an interview, a test, and a role in "Rings on Her Fingers."

The newcomer was especially thrilled about it because her benefactress has the lead in the picture. And then, for her first scene, Mary Scott had to slap Gene Tierney.

What with all the spy pictures going on these days, many with feminine secret agents, there's sinister business afoot in the Hollywoods. Not only afoot, but aback, since Paulette Goddard and Margaret Hayes had those torpedo plans drawn on their shoulder blades in invisible ink.

As for the foot part, Eleanor Powell started it in the now-revamped "Ship Ahoy" by tap-dancing a defense and-dash warning to American sailors that axis agents were about to sabotage a battleship. And now, in "Shadow of a Doubt," in which she plays an Icelandic Sorja Henie will deliver a similar warning by writing out a message on ice during a skating number.

Tax Batters
The studios seemed very quiet lately to anyone just strolling around the lots. No new pictures have been started, and those in production have been winding up at a rapid rate. Actually, though the cutting rooms, laboratories, special effects departments and music-recording stages have been busier than ever, and even a few of the casts have been working double time.

The reason is taxes. Once a year—this time on March 2—the movie companies have to take inventory of all the film on hand that is part of new and uncompleted pictures, and the State of California takes a considerable bite of the money represented by that film. So the studios plan very closely to empty their vaults and clear their sound stages just before pay-off day. On March 3, production will start with a rush.

John Barrymore is beating back to financial independence, but he isn't there yet. Other day he met a former acquaintance who mentioned proudly that he is living in a house once owned by a movie star. "I too," said Barrymore, "am living in a house once owned by a movie star."

"What star?" asked the friend. "John Barrymore," said the Great Profile.

Germans Take Battleships Home Through England's Front Yard

Artist's conception of great naval battle in Straits of Dover shows how Germans took battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau and cruiser Prinz Eugen to home waters despite British attacks with bombers, torpedo planes, destroyers and motor torpedo boats. In the sketch German fighter and bomber planes are putting a curtain over the battleships while destroyers and smaller vessels try to maintain a protective ring around them.

OIL SQUEEZE ON THE ALLIES

Oil, long thought the Achilles heel of the axis, may become the United Nations' weak point in the Far East as Germany and Japan begin to squeeze the allies in the world-wide oil blockade shown on map.

Allied bombers on the offensive in the Far East may blast a path to Tokyo in the three stages shown on map. When enough planes have been massed at Rangoon and other points, strategy would be to push Japs north by bombing out and occupying their positions, continually obtaining bases closer to Japan. Curved lines show bomber radius from present and potential allied bases.

Know the Enemy's Planes

JAPANESE "97" DIVE BOMBER

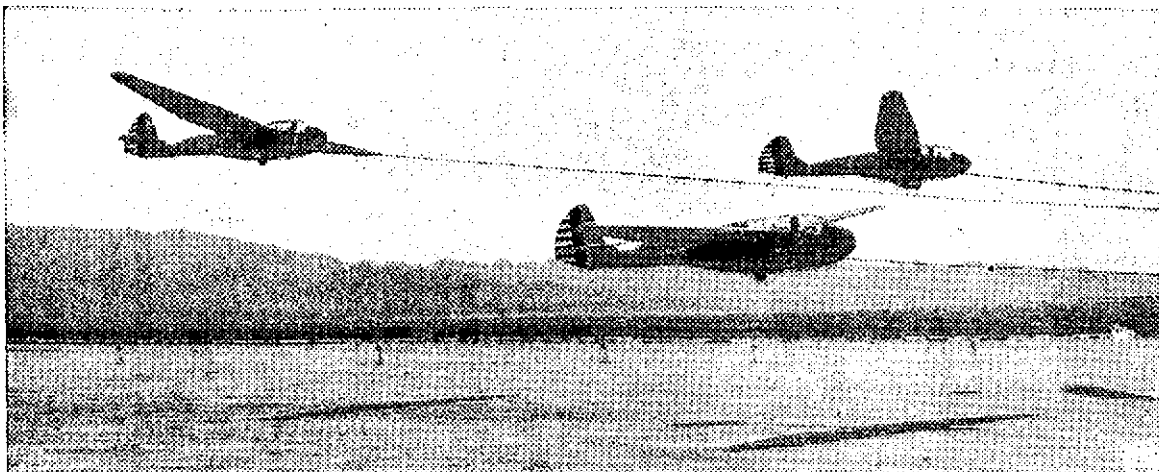

It is possible that planes of this type took part in the treacherous December 7 attack on Pearl Harbor, for the "97," a Japanese navy dive bomber, is frequently based aboard aircraft carriers. The "97" is said to represent an attempt to copy the U. S. navy's Douglas TBD-1 torpedo bomber, but aside from the fact that both ships are single-engine, low-wing monoplanes with retractable landing gear, there is little resemblance between the Jap plane and the fast, high-performance American aircraft. The "97" can be identified in flight by the pronounced bulges on the engine cowling (front view); the short nose and extremely short cockpit housing (profile view); and the tapered wings with full-length flaps and the almost rectangular tailplane (full view).

Be Sure Check on Form 1040A

A Slick Remedy for Income Tax Headaches

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE

Wide World Features Writer
WASHINGTON—The simplified tax return form 1040A is a slick remedy for that income tax-figuring headache, but it may cost you more money than if you use the old form 1040.

The simplified form allows automatically for average deductions in the 3,000-or-less income brackets. But your allowable deductions, which include interest, taxes, losses from fire, theft, bad debts, etc., may be considerably higher than the average in your income bracket. If they total $150 or more you probably will save money by using the old form.

Take the case of Jim Jones, married, and with one dependent child. He has an earned income of $2,500 and $200 deduction for interest on a house he is paying for. Under the simplified form his tax is $45. Under the old form, it is $30.80. He would save $14.20 by using the latter.

If his deductions amounted to $100 he would still save $4.60 by using the old form. On the other hand, if his deductions totaled only $40, he would be $1.16 ahead by using the abbreviated form, which is much easier to fill out.

If Jim were single, earned $2,500 and had deductions of $100, he would pay $8.40 less under the new form. Generally speaking married men, particularly those with one or more dependents and substantial deductions, will fare better under the old form.

The new form is a boon for the newlywed taxpayer. If you were married late in December, even the last day, the full exemption as head of a family is automatically provided. A proportional exemption is allowed under the old form for persons married during the income year, but those married less than a month get only the single-man's $750 exemptions. It works the other way if a dependent dies during the year or otherwise ceases to be a dependent. Under the new form, taxpayers get deductions only for those who were dependents on the last day of 1941. Under the old form, a proportional part of the $400 exemption can be taken.

Black is White (To the Camera)

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

Wide World Science Editor
NEW YORK—London's bombings have led to discovery of a new chemical bath which restores the reading matter on charged paper, even when to the eye it is a uniform, coal black.

The odd thing is that the eye of an ordinary camera sees this restoration, although the human eye does not do so well.

The paper is bathed with chloral hydrate, in a 25 per cent solution of alcohol. It is dried, and the treatment repeated several times, until a mass of chloral hydrate crystals covers both sides of the paper. Finally comes a bath with 10 per cent glycerine.

An ordinary camera with a standard contrasty film then photographs the paper, and the photograph reveals the lost characters. The treatment restores reading matter equally on both sides.

Advantages are quickness, ease, reliability of getting results and the fact that no special apparatus is required. The discovery is reported in Nature, Britain's science journal, by W. D. Taylor and Henry J. Walls, of the Metropolitan Police Laboratory, London.

They say they are not able to explain why the chemical bath causes the restoration.

Knitting Society For Men Only

NEW YORK—(P)—The Men's Knitting Group of the Sachs Victory Volunteers are clicking their needles for national defense. In three months, 14 men, physically unfit or otherwise unable to join up for active service, knit 48 sweaters. The garments were made for civilian relief and for service men in Iceland.

The knitters are complying with the U. S. government request that civilians knit for service men only on specific request.

4. Must you serve liquor, even though you can't afford it, because your friends always do?
